

Journal of Basic and Clinical Research (JBCR)

Guidelines for Authors: Manuscript preparation

General

Manuscripts are accepted for publication with the understanding that their contents, all or in part, have not been published and will not be published elsewhere, except in the Abstract form or with the consent of the Editor. Material received for consideration will be acknowledged. Manuscripts will be initially reviewed by the Editor for suitability for formal review and would then be reviewed by peer Reviewers on originality, methodology, scientific content and quality, clinical importance and overall suitability for publication. Reviewer comments will be sent to the corresponding author for response, revision and resubmission within a specified time.

Authorship

All individuals designated as authors should qualify for authorship.

An 'author' is considered to be someone who has made substantive intellectual contributions to a published study. Authorship credit should be based on substantial contributions to conception and design, acquisition of data, or analysis and interpretation of data; drafting the article or revising it critically for important intellectual content; and final approval of the version to be published. Authors should meet all the above conditions.

Participation solely in the acquisition of funding, for the collection of data or data entry, and general routine supervision does not justify authorship. The order of authorship should be a joint decision of all the co-authors. Once submitted, the order will not be changed without written consent of all the co-authors.

Conflicts of Interest

Authors should submit a conflict of interest statement which will be published with every article. The purpose of the statement is to ensure that any factors - personal relationships, financial connections, sponsorships - that might bias the author of an article, are declared so that readers are aware of the potential conflict of interest and can include knowledge in the assessment of information. Stating a conflict of interest does not disqualify an author from publication.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the wrongful appropriation or purloining and publication as one's own, of the ideas, or the expression of the ideas of another. Plagiarism is considered by the journal as scientific or professional misconduct and authors and reviewers are advised to be careful to maintain high ethical standards.

MANUSCRIPT

The manuscript should be typed in single space throughout. Font size should be of UK English Arial 12 points. The identity of the author or institute should not be revealed in the manuscript, except for the title page. (For example, do not mention name of institute in Methods, citing previous study as 'our study', names on figure labels, name of institute in photographs etc).

The manuscript comprises (1) Title page, (2) Abstract and keywords, (3) Text, (4) References, (5) Tables, (6) Legends for illustrations and (7) Illustrations. All these must start on separate pages and in the above order.

(1) Title page - gives the title of the article, a short title, type of article (original article, case report etc), name(s) of the author(s), affiliations of author(s), place of work, names and addresses of the authors and word count (excluding abstract and references). Identify one author as corresponding author and give his/her postal address, direct telephone or mobile number and email address. The title should not exceed 60 characters. It should have no abbreviations.

- (3) Abstract and Keywords - The abstract is a synopsis of the main article in about 200 words and gives an opportunity to the author to induce the reader to go through the article. It should be structured in to the headings: Background, Methods, Results, Conclusion, giving facts and not descriptions. Avoid abbreviations. No abstract is required for Case Reports or Letters to the Editor. Give not more than 6 keywords
- (4) Text - The text should be divided into sections, e.g. Introduction, Material and Methods, Results and Discussion. Each should have its individuality and must not be mixed with others. Ensure that all references, tables and figures are cited in the text. Only authorized, internationally accepted abbreviations should be used. First time use of an abbreviation must always be preceded by its full form except for standard units of measurement. Abbreviations are to be avoided in title, abstract and keywords.
- (5) References - Responsibility of accuracy of the references lies entirely with the authors. The authors are encouraged to use the facility available for checking the correctness of references online. References should be in the style described in examples. References should be listed in the order in which they are cited in the text. Only relevant and recent references are encouraged. They should be indicated in the text by Arabic numerals superscripted with word or punctuation. Ensure that all the references cited in the text are included in the list and vice versa. List all authors, surname followed by initials when six or less; when seven or more, give only first six and add et al. Do not use full stops in abbreviations of journal names.

Representative examples, based on formats used by NLM in Index Medicus are given below. Please refer to ICMJE guidelines for other types of references.

- (6) Tables - are to be typed on separate pages. They should be serially numbered in arabic numerals (Table 1, Table 2) and a short title should specify the contents. Horizontal lines in the body of the table except between a column heading and its sub-headings should be avoided. The vertical lines separating the columns should be totally omitted. A table should not exceed a page in length, and should not contain less than four lines of data. Tables should be self-explanatory and should not duplicate the data in the text.

- (7) Figures / Illustrations / Photographs- Illustrations should be clear enough and of appropriate size (5 inch x 7 inch or larger) for better reproduction. If illustrations are scanned, then they should be scanned at minimum of 300 dpi. Colour images must be CMYK. Line art drawing must have a minimum resolution of 1200 dpi. Photographs and X-rays should be sent as black and white glossy prints. Photographs may be submitted as 'jpg', or 'tiff' files in a zipped folder. In clinical photographs, identity of the subjects should be suitably masked; in case this is not possible, a written permission from the concerned person should accompany the manuscript. Permission to reproduce any borrowed illustration must be obtained from the author and the publisher.
- (8) Legends to Figures - The Figure number (numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals), title and explanations of the Figures should appear in the legend (not on the Figure). Type the legends on a separate page. Enough information should be included to interpret the Figure without reference to the text.
- (9) Units - All measurements must be in metric units, preferably with corresponding SI units in parentheses. No periods, no plural form (eg. '10 cm' not '10 cms').

Miscellaneous

Use 'radiograph', 'radiographic' and 'radiographical' not 'X-ray', 'skiagram' and 'roentgenogram'. 'Significant' should be reserved for use in the statistical sense. Avoid duplication and repetition of material in results and discussion, in Tables and Text, and in Text and Legends.

Ethics

Do not use names and initials of the patients or hospital numbers, especially in illustrative material. When informed consent for the same has been taken from the subject, it should be mentioned in the manuscript. Any report of experimental investigation on human subjects must contain evidence of informed consent by the subjects and of approval by the institutional ethics committee.

Manuscript for various types of articles

Case Reports

A case report should communicate a message that transcends the individual patient and should describe rare interesting facets of a particular disease or an unusual entity.

Format - Keywords; Introduction; Case Report; Discussion.

Discussion should highlight unusual features of the report and it should not be a review of literature.

These are invited from experts in the field. Prospective authors are requested to consult the Editor in- Chief for prior approval of their topic.

Contemporary Issue

These are articles of topics of current interest, authored preferably by experienced practitioners.

The decision on such articles is communicated to authors within two weeks. The articles qualifying the screening process will be sent to reviewers having sufficient experience on the subject, in a 'double blind fashion'.
